FESTIVAL BACKGROUND

The Salem Art Fair & Festival serves as a fundraiser for the programs and operations of the Salem Art Association, a nonprofit organization dedicated to art education, and art appreciation. As Oregon's largest community visual-arts organization, its operations include the Bush Barn Art Center's galleries, and Annex.

Now in its 72nd year, the Salem Art Fair & Festival is an annual three-day event produced by the Salem Art Association. This outdoor event is held in beautiful Bush's Pasture Park in the heart of Salem. With more than 200 participating visual artists, music and performances on two stages, hands-on activities for children and much more, the three-day festival draws thousands of visitors. The Salem Art Fair & Festival brings many diverse populations together to celebrate and enjoy all forms of art.

The Salem Art Fair & Festival is a major event in the Pacific Northwest, with a long history of providing high-caliber performers with tremendous public exposure. Performers at this annual event have often secured additional bookings at other venues as a result of being juried into the Salem Art Fair & Festival.
