Dear Bush

Mail in and yours of the 28th ult reced, D-m the luck. I sent that index up by Spender of Corvallis. He left here on the morning of the 26th (Thursday) and expected to be in Salem that night. The bugger must have carried it on with him. I will write to him tonight. I finished it Tuesday morning, and detained it to send it by him, rather than the mail on account of its bulk. I have the Genl Laws as far as the 4th Leg. p 30. I am at work on the remainder of the code and would rather not make index to those general laws if Sam May will. If not will do so. Send me the rest of it.

Enclosed I send you from Oregonian containing article on Shattucks decision. Miller has left the Oregonian. May go in again, if he can have his own way, but cant stay long at one thing. A Bran-bread philosopher. Proff. Stirabout, (Davidson) and an emigre is running the thing now.

Ben is right about that procalamation I reckon. It has given the north something to fight over, and the south something to fight against, while I suppose it will make precious little difference to poor Sambo, as to which wins. He will still have to hoe corn and dig potatoes.

Write me, if you get the index. It cant be lost. Spencer died once it was said and was administered upon, but such a thing cant happen to a man twice in this life. It must come to hand. There was 91 pages. And I should hate to make it over again.

Dear Bush,

Mail in and yours of the 28th not rec'd, I'm the luck. I sent that index up by Spencer of Cornwallis. He left here on the morning of the 26th (Thursday) and expected to be in Salem that night. The bugger must have carried it on with him. I will write to him tonight. I finished it Tuesday morning, and delayed it to send it by him, rather than the mail on account of its bulk. I have the Genl Laws as far as 4th Sec, p 30. I am at work on the remainder of the Code and would rather not make index to those general laws if Sam May will. If not will do so. Send me the rest of it.

Enclosed I send you sth from Oregon containing article on Shattucks decision. Miller has left the Oregon, May go on again, if he can have his own way, but can't stay long at one thing. A Prussian bred philosopher Prof. Strabont, (Davidson) and an emigré is running the thing now.

Ben is right about that proclamation Truckon. It has given the North something to fight over, and the South something to fight against, while I suppose it will make precious little difference to poor Sambo, as to which wind, he will still have to hoe corn and dig potatoes.

Write me, if you get the index. It can't be lost. Spencer died once it was said and was administered upon, but such a thing can't happen to a man twice in this life. It must come to hand. There was 91 pages. And I should hate to make it over again.
